

We are a non-profit web hosting company that is dedicated to providing world class web portals to non-profit organizations.

We understand the web/internet technologies are becoming increasingly valuable as a community building tool that can greatly enhance your organizations impact. We also understand that these technologies are getting increasingly complex to plan, build and run.

Your website is too important to your mission for it to be unprofessional and haphazard in its design. In most cases it simply is not practical or cost effective to spend the time and energy creating it yourself. A poorly designed and implemented website will actually hurt your mission.

That is where Proteon Software comes in...

We specialize in building and running community portals for non-profit organizations. Our mission is to be your web/internet partner for the long term. In order to keep our costs as low as possible and your experience as simple and smooth as possible we develop and run your portal on our award winning Content Management System.

We understand that your organization is more effective when your portal is up and running smoothly. Most developers are paid to build websites, not run them, so when they are done building your site they often are not around to help run it since there is no money in it for them.

We change that dynamic. We are paid when your site is up and running smoothly. In some cases we can build the site for free. Our entire process is dedicated to developing your portal in weeks not months and we give complete support and upgrades for a low monthly fee. This portal leasing model is much more beneficial to your organization and creates a natural partnership between your organization and Proteon Software. If your portal is not running smoothly and to your satisfaction, we do not get paid. Period.

We understand that your website/portal is an important operational tool to your organization and it needs to be robust, flexible, reliable and simple to use.

Our Content Management System gives you complete control of your web content. Imagine making real time changes to your website when you want and how you want, for free, and without waiting for your programmer to do it.
